Magnetic Schematic author Dave Custer came to MIT as an undergraduate in 1978 and since then has never strayed far. After earning an undergraduate degree in XX1-E, he worked for LISP Machines Inc. as an electrical engineer. He returned to MIT putting computers in writing classrooms. He now teaches writing for both MIT's Experimental Study Group and The Writing & Humanistic Studies Program.